

Contents

Editorial	Aviation Psychology and Applied Human Factors: More Than a New Journal! Peter G. A. M. Jorna	1
Original Articles	Pilot Candidate Selection Method: Still an Effective Predictor of US Air Force Pilot Training Performance Thomas R. Carretta	3
	Two Treatments for Fear of Flying Compared: Cognitive Behavioral Therapy Combined With Systematic Desensitization or Eye Movement Desensitization and Reprocessing (EMDR) Maria Teresa Triscari, Palmira Faraci, Valerio D'Angelo, Viviana Urso and Dario Catalisano	9
	Descriptive and Analytical Epidemiology of Accidents in Five Categories of Sport Aviation Aircraft Robert R. A. van Doorn and Alex J. de Voogt	15
	A New Scale to Evaluate Disruptive Passenger Management by Cabin Crew: Implications for Crew Resource Management and Quality of Service María José Piñar-Chelso and Jordi Fernández-Castro	21
APAHF in Practice	Seeing the Big Picture of Mishaps: Applying the AcciMap Approach to Analyze System Accidents Kate Branford	31
	How Do Astronaut Candidate Profiles Differ From Airline Pilot Profiles? Results From the 2008/2009 ESA Astronaut Selection Peter Maschke, Viktor Oubaid, and Yvonne Pecena	38
	Integrating Safety and Crew Resource Management (CRM) Aspects in the Recurrent Training of Cabin Crew Members Sandrina Ritzmann, Annette Kluge, Vera Hagemann, and Margot Tanner	45
News and Announcements	Meeting Calendar	52
	Aviation Human Factors Related Industry News	53